May 6th - 11th 2013 Los Angeles, CA

The museum of contemporary mind (mucom) is a non-local and non-temporal exhibition project created by performance artist Zoe DeWitt. It can manifest at any time and place its operators wish to happen so. Its aim is to present contemporary art in environments independent of established institutions and financial resources. It can appear in on-, off- or inbetween-spaces for any determined or undetermined time. The dimensions of its exhibitions can vary from to large scale to micro size. The museum of contemporary mind is therefore regarded as a quantum museum project. As such its public appearances can be seen as probabilities of presence and imply a certain inexactness of space or time. Therefore, if you wish to visit the museum at any of the given times, you should look around in the named public spaces to find us. The invited artists are members and friends of the Hans Scheirl class for contextual painting at the Academy of Fine Arts Vienna and will be present during the opening times of the museum.

The L.A. Show @ mucom will open at the following times and spaces:

Monday 6th, 10 pm: opening @ private location in central hollywood (invited guests only – address on request); Tuesday 7th, 4 pm: ONE, national gay and lesbian archives, 909 W Adams Blvd, CA 90007; Wednesday 8th, 4 pm: Venice Beach, Venice Art Mile; Thursday 9th, 4 pm: Kaucyila Brooke @ CalArts. California Institute of the Arts, 24700 McBean Pkwy, Valencia, CA 91355; Friday 10th, 1 pm: MOCA, Museum of Contemporary Art, 250 S Grand Ave, CA 90012; Saturday 11th, 10 am: LACMA, Los Angeles County Museum of Art, 5905 Wilshire Blvd, Los Angeles, CA 90036.
